ANDREW TALLMER,
ESQ.

FOUNDER LEOLAT

This course is designed for LEO's assigned to investigate juvenile delinquency cases, involved in juvenile court delinquency proceedings, and those who regularly encounter juveniles.

Objectives

1. Review the laws affecting court where juvenile cases are heard, juvenile delinquents, and undisciplined juveniles.
2. Explain juvenile arrest procedures.
3. List the ages of 1) a juvenile; 2) a juvenile delinquent; and, 3) a juvenile who may be transferred to superior court.
4. Describe the circumstances under which a law enforcement officer may take custody of a juvenile without a court order.
5. Explain the constitutional and state statutory rights that have been afforded juveniles.
6. Explain juvenile Miranda warnings that must be given for juveniles less than 16 years of age and for juveniles who are 16 or 17 years old.
7. Define the meaning of "custody" for juvenile interrogation purposes under Miranda.
8. Describe the potential for false confessions from juveniles.
9. Discuss a juvenile's consent to search and any limitations of that consent.
10. Explain the options of a law enforcement officer once he/she takes a juvenile into custody.
11. List the factors that the court must consider in deciding whether to secure or release a juvenile after he is taken into custody.
12. List the notification that a law enforcement officer must make after taking a juvenile into custody.
13. Explain photographing and fingerprinting statutes.
14. Explain how an officer obtains and executes a Nontestimonial Identification Order.
15. Discuss recent statutory changes affecting juveniles.

Course Methods: This course employs lecture, class discussion and an intensive review of appellate court cases illustrating the points made throughout the course. Attendance is required for the entire session. Cell phone use is not allowed while class is in session. It is recommended that students bring the Fifth Edition of Robert Farb's Arrest, Search and Investigation in North Carolina. The book is available at the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Government's website and at the NCJA bookstore in Salemburg.
